THE cultural revolt is more star-tling and few of the Chinese in-

With garlands overhead, a blaze of light and color, carol singers mingling with the crowds, giant Christmas trees scintillating in Union Square and at the Ferry bullding, the old-time spirit of Christmas will be rekindled all through the month of December to flame into unforgettable brilliance the day and the night before The Day.

Day. With light and music and song with light and music and song and cheer and the happy laughter of children from 7 to 70, San Fran-cisco plans to tell the world there is a Santa Claus and that the spirit of Christmas still lives.

PLANS TAKE SHAPE

Plans for a civic celebration of Christmas on a scale seldom attempted by an American city were outlined and discussed at a huge and enthusiastic luncheon meeting held in the Hotel St. Franciso yesterday by the Down Town Association, with which the idea for a month-long colorful and elaborate Christmas fete originated.

Presiding at the meeting, Marshal Hale, president of the association, struck the keynote of the celebration in a sentence:

"Let us be young again for a spell; let us all be children again in spirit; let us rekindle once and for all time the spirit of Christmas in San Francisco."

How San Francisco will fan the Christmas spirit into a blaze that will be brought to the streets.

the four corners of each intersection will be erected gigantic figures of characters from nursery rhymes and the traditional figure of Santa

MARY GARDEN TO MAKE TALKIE

CHICAGO. Nov. 6 (P)—Mary Garden, prima donna of the Chicago Civic Opera Company, is planning to make a talkie opera.

Hamilton Forrest, who composed "Camille," which he has termed a jazz opera, and in which Miss Garden will have the title role, is now working on the "grand talkie."

Forrest said he was not at liberty to give the title, but that it had an Egyptian theme and a setting in ancient Alexandria.

Pair Caught in Wild Chase After Crash Wrecks Detective Auto

A chase in which a police automobile was wrecked, a dozen shots were fired and the tank of a flee-ing automobile was riddled with revolver bullets last night resulted in the arrest of two young boys, both sons of well-to-do families living in the Forest Hills district.

The boys arrested after a chase of several miles were Owen McCusker, 15, 85 San Rafael way, son of a prominent automobile dealer, and Allen Johnson, 14, 525 Dewey boulevard.

They were driving an automobile owned by Johnson's father, who was said to be in the East. The Johnson boy said that he and McCusker had taken it without his mother's permission. McCusker was driving the car.

CRASH POLICE CAR

The wild chase began at Merced avenue and Kensington way, Forest Hills. Policemen Andrew Coleman and J. D. Long were in a police prowher car when they observed a big touring car containing two persons dashing down on them.

Although the policemen pulled over to the curb to avoid a collision, the car struck the police car in the center, forcing it up on the lawn of a home. The car then speeded away.

Ints were made on the gasometank.

The policemen commandeered another automobile and gave chase, still firing at the tires of the fleeing machine. The car turned up an abandoned road behind the Relief Home, and the police soon came on their car, the gasoline tank empty and the car abandoned.

The two policemen scoured the forest near the road with drawn revolvers and forced the boys to surrender.

The boys were held at the Taraval police station for the Juvenile Court.
